Message from the Principal

I am extremely happy to learn that our college is going to bring out the second edition of its quarterly news letter "The Technojyoti". Ever since the inception of this college in 2004, we have been striving for excellence in different departments/ areas of engineering and technology, and at the same time marching forward with the mission of professional as well as intellectual development of the students. I feel gratified to see that we are doing our best in carrying on the mission of grooming our students as such professionals who are not only competent enough to combat the challenges in their life but also become good human beings with moral excellence and social sensitivity. Our motto is to produce employable quality engineers and technocrats for facing the society with confidence and commitment. I congratulate Prof. Saqti Mohanty, Editor and the members of the Editorial Board for their untiring effort without which it would not have been possible to bring out this issue of the News Letter in such a splendid form. I wish all the very best for the publication of the news letter.

Employer Wants to Improve YOU on Getting YOU Complete

Prof. N.P. Patro
Director EDP & IIPC

Yes, the employer wants you complete. No doubt, they have made precise arrangements to get improvements in you to make you their star employee. They will call you a member of their organization, partner in their endeavor or even an owner for some of their projects; but they need you to land there as a complete human being and seamlessly adaptable. You joined GITA to become an Engineer. The BPUT syllabus and the tireless effort of your teachers and your commitment will certainly make you an Engineer, but you have to make yourself Complete. This Completeness is now days called Employability. GITA helps you to achieve that completeness through intensive investments. Your role is to take the advantage of those efforts and imbibe the learning for getting high score in your Employability.

How to take advantage of the efforts put forth by the institution? It's as simple it always was. Stick to the routine provided by the teacher, participate in the teachers discourses, seek assignment and complete them in time, test your Employability a number of times and seek support for that from the institution.

In the language of the environment available here-do not skip classes, do the home work, participate in competitions and tests. That's all.

Each of you understands pretty well that to be complete / employable you need to be good at your communication, of course, in English. So sharpen your English communication and comprehension. Build on your aptitude both verbal /nonverbal reasoning and quantitative skills. You will be motivated to attend such exposures several times during your tenure here. Just you have to keep a track of those initiatives and participate fully. Strangely sometime students are found ignorant of the programmes organized in their campus, such a situation, in my opinion, shows the incompleteness of students more vividly. Avoid such incongruence at any cost.

Last but certainly not the least; your attitude decides your destiny and helps you to reach at your desired altitude. It includes your personality, your punctuality, your response, your behavior and all those goodness you know but sometimes miss to emulate.

Try early to inculcate a few of these value systems in you to make yourself worldly positive and universally acceptable:

Integrity, Commitment, Passion, Seamlessness and Alertness

April

Prof. Saqti Mohanty
Department of Physics

The road looks damp, damp with mirages.
Looks like you are standing here, there and there too.
A moment's stay near you
is like the shade,
like cool water,
like the pharmacist telling me that my blood has no infection.

Somebody surely suffers
when a sun just falls down into the burning pitch of the noon.
Come, sit behind me on my scooter.
Let my shadow engulf your entire body.
And the heat of this April,
all on my forehead.

A bus just passed,
whirling smokes of dust;
Somebody's waving his hands
like a sailor on a voyage;
Does he know where I have to reach?

A bunch of people doing 'keertan'
in the roadside temple,
A feast going on,
A stall providing water.
And in that beer parlour,
a bunch of red chairs lay scattered like someone's menstrual blood.
Above my head
an aeroplane just initiated its landing.
In its belly of a pregnant fish,
full of wounds of dreams -
Have you come in it?
Who is it that roams in this heat,
burkha-clad, in a rickshaw like you hiding your face?

The ambulance speeds away
honking its siren,
Can death be dragged like that through the highways?

What to me, if someone lives or dies?
Doesn't matter at all.
You must be standing with a spotted umbrella in your hand, under a Gulmohur or a Eucalyptus.
There's a beer bottle in the dicky.
And, there's April still to go.
